KLAMATH FALLS

WILL WE LOSE AGAIN?

FOR YEARS, Klamath Falls postoffice receipts have been more than sufficient to entitle the city to free delivery of mail. But as yet, we have not received this service, and we possibly have the distinction of being the largest community in the United States without such a service.

And for this condition, we have nobody to blame but ourselves. During the term of Robert Emmitt as postmaster, he took the matter up with the Postoffice Department, through personal recommendation, and a memorial from the council. The inspector found that the postoffice receipts warranted the service—but that the town was not prepared on account of lack of numbering and sufficient sidewalks.

Emmitt's successor, Clyde K. Brandenburg, also took the matter up, and the government later sent a second inspector. His report was practically the same as that of the first man.

And since assuming office, Postmaster Delsell has taken the matter up. And as in the other two cases, the inspector found after investigation that he could not grant a service here on account of lack of numbering and sidewalks.

After three adverse reports it may be hard to secure another investigation here. But it will be asked for, possibly this spring, for Postmaster Delsell does not intend to let the matter drop. Will we secure free delivery this time? That depends upon the people.

Since the last investigation here people have come to realize that they must conform with the regulations, or do without mail delivery. For that reason a good many have properly numbered their houses. But all must do this or the next report will be as the others. The metal numerals cost but a trifle, and the proper number can be secured from the city engineer by merely asking.

With the numbering attended to, there will remain the matter of proper sidewalks. For Uncle Sam will not permit his boys in gray to wallow through the mud to deliver letters. The council has been busy working to get sidewalks built in all parts of town, especially strips connecting up the walks along certain streets where property owners have failed to put in walks.

The free delivery of mail will not be granted until the sidewalks of the residence district are what they should be. Therefore, it is up to the people to construct these, as ordered by the council, or to have the city build the walks, and file a lien against the property for payment of the cost.

PANAMA CANAL TRAFFIC

TWO HUNDRED and fifty vessels used the Panama canal before December 1, 1914. Two hundred and twenty-seven laden.

The tolls collected on this traffic aggregated $1,136,205. Collection of tolls began in May, 1914, when barges were first allowed to use the canal, and assumed considerable volume with the opening of the canal on August 15 to ocean-going vessels.

TWO SPLENDID EDITIONS

Such publications are valuable in attracting the homeseeker and investor, as they cover comprehensively

WHAT ARE YOU DOING with that old Christmas tree, saving it until next year? It doesn't ornament your front porch at all, neither will it improve the looks of your neighborhood if you chuck it out in the alley and leave it there until the "clean up" hits us in the spring. Better take the axe to it, and reduce the H. C. L. by using it for fuel.

G. D. GRIZZLE MONUMENTS

Made from the famous Bare Island Birdseye Granite, Klamath Falls

U. S. Officials After "Rotten Egg" Trust

United Press Service

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Bad eggs are carrying the Department of Agriculture. It has discovered a well-organized traffic in rotten eggs centering in Chicago. It considers the situation so serious that it has inaugurated a vigorous campaign aided by state and city authorities in all parts of the country, to break up the traffic and send the promoters to jail.

The common impression that rotten eggs are useful only in demonstration of disapproval is dispelled by the Department in an official statement. It admits that inedible eggs may be utilized "for technical purposes, such as tanning leather." The trouble is, it says, the rotten egg traffickers deceive the public into buying the product for food purposes.

From evidence already gathered, the Department states, there seems to be a definite market in Chicago for "rots and spots" at $2.00 a case of 30 dozen. In consequence, rots and spots from all parts of the country are being shipped into Chicago.

The Department is going to get quick action in its campaign against the traffic, it states. The delay necessary to secure authorization from Washington to make seizures of unfit shipments has been eliminated through the cooperation of State authorities, who are acting with great promptness. The aid of the State facilitates the gathering of evidence for criminal proceedings against the offenders.

"Most of the rots and spots that reach Chicago are first broken and frozen," the Department says in its official statement. "They are then sold to bakers for use in cakes and other forms of food. In one instance at least, a shipment of those eggs was traced to a firm which admitted that they had no use for them except in food."

A LITTLE SPORTING GOSSIP

By Hal Sheridan

United Press Service

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Although Gunboat Smith never fell into the "has been" class he thoroughly demonstrated here recently that he must yet receive that push which will eliminate him from the "white hope" class. When he met Tom McCarthy, the northwestern heavyweight here, the ex-mariner showed the public he still retained his old-time "Kerry-wallop."

Gunboat, however, was far below par several weeks before he met the Montana husky and native authorities were certain he had reached the turning point of his career.

Smith depends solely upon his big punching ability. But let the Gunner lose his grip on this ability and he will immediately cease to become one of the formidable members of the heavyweight class.

While mentioning Tom McCarthy it might be said that his defeat at the hands of Smith, although probably temporarily hurting his reputation, does not completely eliminate him. McCarthy is still budding. Sometime before his fight with Smith, McCarthy was awarded a popular decision over Battling Levinsky, who outpointed Smith several weeks ago.

The status of an amateur golfer, which has caused so much discussion in causing no little agitation in golfing circles. Several authorities and members of the United States Golf Association have held that certain rules should be enacted so the amateur status will not smack so much of professionalism. Certain cranks have maintained that the writing of articles by amateurs and being paid for them is nothing short of professionalism. This is only one instance of the many under discussion, which will have to be decided upon when the Golf Association convenes in its annual session.

Motion Pictures Under the Sea Open Way to Recovering Treasures

In the January American Magazine Cleveland Moffitt writes a most interesting account of a new invention by which moving pictures of sharks and other sea life are now taken at great depths. The inventor, Charles Williamson, is a sea captain of Norfolk, Virginia whose sons, George and Ernest, are carrying on the work. The essential of the invention is a tube which is lowered into the water in which human beings are enabled to remain and do photography with the assistance of powerful searchlights, which they carry. In the following extract taken from the article, Mr. Moffitt relates his conversation with one of the Williamsons as to the probability that this new invention opens the way to regain lost treasures at the bottom of the sea, which amount to many hundreds of millions of dollars:

Some say there is more gold at the bottom of the ocean than there is in circulation," remarked George Williamson. "It is certain that gold and silver have been sinking in the sea for centuries, millions a month, going down like rain and never coming up again. We think we have a way of getting some of this treasure up."

"With this deep sea tube?"

"Yes. My father is now working out plans to salvage the 'Mereda,' which was wrecked off the Virginia coast a few years ago. The board of underwriters have given him a contract to do this salvage work. The 'Mereda' carried a large quantity of silver bars, besides a safe full of jewelry in the purser's cabin on the upper deck.

"How far can you go down with the tube?"

"Competent engineers say to a depth of eight hundred feet, and to go even farther is merely a matter of structural detail. A depth within our immediate reach is two hundred and fifty feet. We call that our commercial depth, and there are wrecks enough within that limit to keep men working for a hundred years. The 'Empress of Ireland' for instance, lies in two hundred feet of water.

"Suppose the treasure was shut up in the hold of a wreck?"

"We would blow up the wreck with dynamite and then use the grappling and hoisting apparatus. The great point is that the tube will allow us to search the bottom of the sea, where the depths are not too great, and to stay down there comfortably, breathing the good air. The rest is merely a matter of engineering detail, which will be easily worked out by human ingenuity. How difficult would it be, for instance, to load sponges and pearls into lowered baskets, if you had the sponges and pearls right before your eyes?"

"And the same applies to bars of silver and chests of gold? I laughed.

"Exactly," said Williamson.

A New Reason for Not Going to Church

Mollie Best, writing a story entitled "The Sinews of Peace," in the January American Magazine, presents an old lady who makes the following amusing comment on her husband: "He was a very good man, my husband, though he would often say, 'Don't make me go to church too much, Hattie; it takes my mind off religion.'"

DRESS WARM AND KEEP FEET DRY

TELS RHEUMATISM SUFFERERS TO TAKE SALTS AND GET RID OF URIC ACID

Rheumatism is no respecter of age, sex, color or rank. If not the most dangerous of human afflictions, it is one of the most painful. Those subject to rheumatism should eat less meat, dress as warmly as possible, avoid any undue exposure, and, above all, drink lots of pure water.

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which overcomes uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well. (Paid Advertisement)
